- If a student arrives late to an assessment, depending upon the nature of the task, they may not be allowed to enter the room. Students arriving late for an assessment will not automatically be given extra time to complete the assessment task.
- Students who participate in external courses/apprenticeships/traineeships must make necessary arrangements to attend the scheduled exams at school. Notify your trainer/employer of your absence in advance.
- If a student is absent for an assessment due to a special, serious and unavoidable circumstance (e.g. bereavement in the immediate family or illness), the student's parent/caregiver must contact the Senior Secondary HoD tloff1@eq.edu.au or Senior Secondary Deputy Principal nread10@eq.edu.au directly before the date or as close to the date of the assessment to explain the circumstance and provide supporting documentation.
- In accordance with the Queensland Curriculum and Assessment Authority (QCAA) guidelines, a medical report must be provided should a student be absent for a scheduled assessment time.
